PETER S. HO
Chairman, President, and Chief Executive Officer
Bank of Hawaii Corporation and Bank of Hawaii

Dear Fellow Shareholders,

2010 was a solid year for Bank of Hawaii. Net earnings of $183.9 million or $3.80 per diluted share compare favorably to $144.0 million or $3.00 per diluted share earned last year. The primary driver of earnings growth came from an improved credit environment resulting in lower credit costs. We saw improvement in all credit measures. Net charge offs were $51.6 million in 2010 vs. $87.7 million in 2009. Non-performing assets were $37.8 million at year-end compared to $48.3 million last year. Delinquency trends continue to improve. As such, provision for credit loss expense was $55.3 million compared to $107.9 million in 2009.

We believe the economy is improving albeit at a lower rate of growth when compared to past post-recession recovery periods. Total deposits grew to $9.9 billion at December 31, 2010, compared to $9.4 billion at the same time last year. Average consumer core deposits were up 9 percent over last year, and new consumer checking accounts were up 7 percent over the same period. The Bank of Hawaii franchise and brand appear well suited to today's challenging market environment.

In the fourth quarter, overall period end loans grew modestly after declining in concert with the recession and financial crisis of the past few years. We see commercial loan activity stabilizing. Consumer loan demand, however, remains weak. We anticipate this trend to continue into 2011. We continue to maintain strong levels of liquidity and capital. Tangible common equity to risk weighted assets stood at 19.3 percent at year-end. During the year, we maintained our dividend at $1.80 per share. With improving operating conditions during the year, we re-commenced our stock buy back program in July.

It was a busy year for Bank of Hawaii. In addition to generating solid results, a number of initiatives were undertaken on the planning, leadership and facilities investment fronts. Forbes magazine named Bank of Hawaii the best bank in America in 2010. You may recall, this is the second year in a row we are receiving this honor having been named in 2009 as well. We view this as a testament to the quality of our people, our marketplaces, and our customers. We are indeed fortunate.

Economic Climate

2010 proved to be a year of positive transition in the American economy, pivoting from recession to recovery. Our core Hawaii market participated in this trend. The visitor industry, one of the key drivers of our Hawaiian economy, improved nicely from the previous two years. Visitor arrivals and spending were up 9 percent and 16 percent respectively in 2010. Visitor growth came from all major markets, both domestic and international. We think it's noteworthy to mention that our international market provided an outsized share of growth in 2010 arrivals, contributing 45 percent of overall growth despite representing just 35 percent of the market.

We believe Asia will play an increasingly important role to the Hawaii economy in the coming years based on current and future income, growth, demographic, and currency trends in a number of Asia-Pacific countries. 2011 will see Hawaii host the Leader's Week segment of APEC. This opportunity provides unprecedented exposure for Hawaii to key economies of the Asia-Pacific region.

Median home values in the Honolulu market increased 3 percent in 2010 after two years of decline. Sales velocity and housing inventory levels also improved during the year.

Unemployment remains stubbornly high at 6.4 percent. While we've seen improvement in this statistic, our belief is that we'll need to see a pick up in both investment and construction to bring unemployment levels to more acceptable levels.

China UnionPay Affiliation

During 2010, we entered into a unique marketing arrangement with China UnionPay—China's leading credit card provider. As part of the arrangement, Bank of Hawaii will accept China UnionPay cards at all of our ATMs. This is China UnionPay's first marketing arrangement with a U.S. financial institution. Today, visitor arrivals from China represent a small percentage of overall traffic to Hawaii. We believe the China market will play an increasingly important role in the Hawaii visitors industry in the coming years.

Creating Value for the Future

Our brand, our people and, of course, our customers are our greatest assets. 2010 saw investment and planning into each of those segments.

We finalized plans and are now in the construction phase of a new, state-of-the-art learning center for our employees. When completed later this year, the 16,000 square-foot employee learning center will be a key element for maintaining and building the skills, knowledge and wellbeing of our team.

We opened a new branch in Kapolei—the state's fastest growing deposit market. The new branch increases selling space by 83 percent for us in this key market. We also made major renovations to two other branches during the year. In 2010 we also finalized plans for three new branches—two on Oahu and one on the Big Island.

We place a great deal of emphasis in the return analysis of our capital spending. Our goal is to take a disciplined approach to balancing the long-term capital needs of our brand, the convenience needs of our customers, and the near return requirements of our shareholders.

Strategic Planning Process

With the transition to economic recovery, we thought it prudent to analyze our longstanding strategies and practices. To do this we asked leaders from throughout the organization to systematically assess our operations. We looked for what was working right and what wasn't. Importantly, we assessed our operations and strategies against a future operating environment of positive albeit slow growth. I admire the candid, analytical and measured approach the team brought to the task.

Our conclusions left us confident in the effectiveness of our existing strategy. We are conveniently well suited to a positive yet challenging economic environment moving forward.

We will continue to focus predominantly on our core Hawaii and Guam markets, building on our already strong competitive market positions in these locales. We remain committed to active risk management and efficient capital stewardship.

We will continue to focus on consistent, high-quality capital returns for our shareholders. Building shareholder value over time remains our governing objective.

We believe opportunities exist to increase business among our existing customer base through enhanced cross-selling of clientele, and in empowering our team to build deeper customer relationships. We also believe we can build upon what we consider is an already outstanding customer experience, thereby earning new relationships.

Aloha and Mahalo to Al Landon

On behalf of our 2,500 employees, I want to extend my personal congratulations and thanks to AI Landon, who retired in July as Chairman and CEO. AI joined Bank of Hawaii in 2000 and began his role as CEO in 2004. He deftly saw Bank of Hawaii through one of the most challenging financial environments and recessions in U.S. history. Through this period, AI's leadership enabled our company to not only survive but indeed prosper. AI's classical principles of prudence, balance, and preparation in banking are imprinted on an entire generation of leadership at Bank of Hawaii and, for that, we are truly grateful.

Looking Ahead

We trust that our performance in 2010 validates the prudent strategic course we've followed for some time now. Credit losses improved substantially, along with the positive turn in the economy. We stand positioned for the future with substantial levels of capital and liquidity, which should provide us ample capacity to serve our markets well into the future.

As we mentioned earlier, we see an improving economy albeit one that may grow at lower rates than we've become accustomed to in prior recoveries. We also see substantial impact from recent financial reform legislation and altered money markets, which will likely be challenging in the coming days and months.

Given these factors, you can anticipate Bank of Hawaii to continue a strategy based on improving our positions in markets we know best and have served for years. You can anticipate the same commitment to sober and balanced risk taking and the same commitment to the shareholder and to efficient capital stewardship.

I consider it an honor and privilege to have become the 15th chief executive officer of Bank of Hawaii in 2010. We have a longstanding and talented board and management team that have performed well through challenging conditions. Together we have great confidence that the best of our 113 years of history at Bank of Hawaii remains ahead of us.

Building exceptional value by providing world-class service and convenience with aloha

At Bank of Hawaii, we know that building value for shareholders is tied to providing exceptional service to clients. Hawaii is our home, and aloha is an integral part of the way we do business. It's expressed in many forms. From our commitment to providing customers with world-class service, to offering the convenience of mobile and internet banking, a 24/7 call center, and the largest network of ATMs and branches of any Hawaii-based financial institution.

We continue to serve a wide range of customers, from generations of island families and businesses to international visitors and investors.

Bank of Hawaii is proud to be Hawaii's premier community bank, and honored to have been named by Forbes magazine as the "best bank in America" for a second year in a row.

INCREASING CUSTOMER SERVICE AND CONVENIENCE

In 2010 we continued to enhance customer service and convenience in our markets. We introduced a new customer outreach program; refurbished branches and opened a new branch; expanded our ATM network; introduced mobile ATMs; and took innovation to new heights with the debut of our iPhone app.

Branch Network

We opened our new, full-service Kapolei branch at Kapolei Commons. Our 70th branch in the state features a drive-through ATM, self-serve biometric hand-scan access to safe deposit boxes, a BankLanai with 24-hour access to a business depository and ATMs, and Saturday hours. The Kapolei branch is our second branch to utilize photovoltaic technology to reduce energy costs. We also refurbished and expanded our in-store branch at Safeway Kapolei to become a full-service branch to better serve the needs of the Kapolei community.

In addition, we renovated the customer service areas of our Main Branch in downtown Honolulu. We updated the look and overall ambience, installing new, contemporary flooring and lighting, as well as refurbishing and enhancing the bank's museum-quality artwork that honors the history and heritage of Hawaii.

In 2011, we plan to open a new in-store branch at Safeway Hilo. We also plan to relocate our University branch on Oahu to the nearby new Longs/CVS Moiliili location.

Expanded ATM Network

We increased our network of ATMs from 485 to 502. We also expanded our ATM partnerships that provide our customers with access to cash where they need it the most. We partnered with Times Supermarkets to install Bank of Hawaii ATMs in their supermarkets statewide. Our ATM network also includes: Longs Drugs/CVS, McDonalds, Aloha Petroleum, Costco, Jamba Juice, Kmart, KTA Super Stores on Hawaii Island, Big Save on Kauai, and nearly all Safeway supermarkets statewide. In addition, we installed three ATMs at Aloha Stadium, the state's premier athletic facility and partnered with TDH Foods to install ATMs at two Taco Bell locations in Guam.

We also introduced the convenience of mobile ATMs with the launch of our Bankoh BankMobile. The shuttle-sized vehicle brings two cash-dispensing ATMs to community events statewide. We are the first and only bank in the state to offer mobile ATM service to the public.

New iPhone App

With more people doing things on the go, mobile banking has become a necessity for many. In addition to being the first bank in Hawaii (and among the first nationwide) to offer free internet-based banking service via cell phone or PDA (we introduced mobile banking in 2007), this past year we became the first major bank in the state to introduce a mobile phone banking application for the iPhone. The fast and secure app quickly became one of the top 25 downloaded finance apps; the app is free and available for download from the Apple App Store.

The new Bank of Hawaii iPhone app enables e-Bankoh and e-Bankoh for Business customers in Hawaii and Guam to check their account balances, view recent transactions, transfer money between accounts and make payments online. GPS (global positioning system) technology enables customers to locate the nearest Bank of Hawaii ATM or branch and even identifies, in real time, which branches will be open within the next 15, 30 or 60 minutes.

Online Enhancements

This year we received the eMarketer of the Year award from the American Marketing Association, Hawaii Chapter for the 2009 redesign of our website. Our customers continue to enjoy the user-friendly website, which has improved overall customer experience.

Mortgage Loans and HELOC Express

In 2010, favorable interest rates enabled us to help more customers save money and improve their financial situation by refinancing their mortgage to a lower interest rate. We were also able to help first-time homebuyers fulfill their dream of owning a home.

Our Consumer Lending Department also increased its volume of home equity credit lines with the introduction of the HELOC Express product. HELOC Express conveniently offers customers who apply for a Bank of Hawaii mortgage with the opportunity to qualify for a home equity credit line that closes with their mortgage.

Your Thoughts Count

We introduced the "Your Thoughts Count" customer outreach program, which encourages suggestions, concerns and compliments to help improve our service, products and processes. Participating customers, noncustomers and employees are able to complete an online form, email their comments, or fill out a form from our branches. In addition, we provide our employees with ongoing training on how to successfully resolve customer issues.

ENHANCED SYSTEMS AND PROCESSES

In addition to expanding and enhancing our services to provide greater value and convenience for our customers, we upgraded our systems and processes to improve service and efficiency.

Helping Customers Manage Their Money

To provide our customers with better information to manage their money and minimize overdraft fees, we implemented the Consistent Balance initiative, which ensures that deposit account balance information appears in a consistent manner across all bank channels. Consumer and business customers are now able to see two types of account balances: their current balance, which is their starting balance plus or minus transactions, and their available balance, which is the current balance minus funds on hold. This helps customers understand the exact amount of money to which they have access. The current and available balance information is accessible through e-Bankoh, BOH ATM display screens, printed BOH ATM receipts, Bankoh by Phone, and in our branches. In addition, on monthly deposit account statements, we now list a running tally of overdraft fees, fees paid during the month, and a year-to-date balance.

Our mobile banking and iPhone applications enable customers to conveniently check their account balances before they make a purchase. We continue to offer online banking email alerts through e-Bankoh that confirm transfers, provide notification when a deposit or check has cleared, and when an account reaches a designated minimum or maximum balance.

Comprehensive Wealth Management Solutions

Our Private Client Services (PCS) division continues to provide comprehensive wealth management for business owners and other affluent clients to meet their needs for banking, credit, financial planning, estate planning, and investment management. The division works closely with our Commercial Banking and Retail Banking Groups.

To provide even greater value for our clients, we enhanced our new investment management platform, which enables us to tap the expertise of leading global investment managers. The new platform complements our breadth of offerings, giving PCS clients the advantages of local investment management combined with the best investment products available nationally and globally. It also provides access to leading-edge technology that assists our PCS wealth management professionals in delivering customized investment portfolios to meet clients' specific needs.

In addition, we remodeled and reopened our Private Client Services office in Kahala and added a relationship officer to our Kailua branch to serve our private banking clients in Kailua, Lanikai and Kaneohe.

Technology Infrastructure Upgrades

Some of the major technology infrastructure changes that we implemented in 2010 include: security management upgrades to continually improve controls, management and monitoring, including internet security; network services enhancements to add capacity, improve performance and reduce costs, including upgrades to our ATM network, Pacific Islands Division network and other network services with key partners; data storage management upgrades to expand capacity and increase performance capabilities; and upgrades to key technology management services.

MEETING THE NEEDS OF BUSINESSES

Our focus on exceptional service and convenience extends to businesses of all sizes, including sole proprietors, mid-sized enterprises, large corporations, and international businesses.

Business Banking

Our business banking team remains committed to meeting the needs of small businesses, providing the largest team of business bankers in the state; convenient phone and online access to accounts; a wide range of deposit and loan products, including government-guaranteed loans; merchant services; and the largest number of branches in Hawaii. Each year, we nominate qualified, deserving Business Banking clients in Hawaii, Guam and American Samoa for the U.S. Small Business Administration's awards, recognizing leadership in different categories. In 2010, our nominees once again received the majority of SBA awards.

China UnionPay Joint Market Development Agreement

We continue our commitment to serving international businesses, visitors and investors. Bank of Hawaii signed a historic joint market development agreement with China UnionPay (CUP), a bankcard association with more than 2.1 billion cards issued by member banks.

The agreement will enable CUP cardholders to use their cards at our ATMs to withdraw cash and at our merchant terminals to make purchases. The upcoming addition of Chinese-language transaction screens on our ATMs will make it more convenient for Chinese visitors and CUP cardholders to access funds and make purchases in Hawaii and the West Pacific.

This was the first joint market development agreement for ATM and merchant terminal services that China UnionPay has signed with a U.S. bank, and the agreement is expected to help Chinese tourism and spending in Hawaii.

International Banking Division

We are the only bank in the state to offer an international banking division with multiple foreign language-speaking staff dedicated to serving international commercial banking, investment, and private clients.

In 2010, our International Banking Division hosted seminars in Beijing and Guangzhou, China to help attract Chinese tourism and investment in Hawaii. More than 200 business executives and other invited guests attended the events, which featured topics such as leisure and sports activities, business investments, Hawaii's real estate market, education, and banking.

By the end of 2011, we will have Chinese and Japanese transaction screens available on all of our ATMs across the state of Hawaii.

Commercial/Corporate Banking

We continue to serve mid-sized companies and large corporations that require sophisticated financial solutions, advice and counsel for a range of needs, including commercial real estate and construction loans, equipment financing, and strategic capital expenditures. We also provide them with a safe, secure place for cash and reserves. Our knowledgeable, experienced commercial and corporate bankers help clients meet their financial objectives, and work closely with other business units, including Private Client Services, Investment Services, and Business Banking.

All of us at Bank of Hawaii appreciate the relationships we share with our customers and thank them for their continued trust and confidence in us. We look forward to continuing to serve them in the future.

We invite you to read about a few of our customers and their stories about how we are building value through our commitment to exceptional service and convenience—with the spirit of aloha.

Assaggio's Inc.

Commercial Banking and Private Banking Client

Thomas Ky: Bank of Hawaii is my bank. It is like a mountain—big, strong, and always there behind me. I feel a close bond with Bank of Hawaii because of the outstanding support from their people; they give us the extra mile of service.

I started with Bank of Hawaii in 1987 when I opened my first restaurant after immigrating to the United States. Around 1990, I left the bank for about two years because I wasn't able to obtain a loan. They were concerned that I was moving too fast. It was good that they looked out for me because they didn't want me to fail. Of course, I would never borrow something that I could not pay back.

We came back as I realized that like a parent, Bank of Hawaii was really trying to watch out for me. We have stayed and grown with the bank. We have a good relationship. We have personal, investment and business accounts. I have been able to become the landlord of two of my restaurants with the support of Bank of Hawaii.

Our business banker is Diane Murakami. She takes good care of us, and not just our company business. For instance, when we want to invest, I always ask her to calculate the return. A lot of times when I call—sometimes during off hours—she goes the extra mile to help me and to get the answer I want. She is very helpful.

Even after 20 years, we run the business ourselves. Although we have grown into a big company with six restaurants, we continue to run the company like a "Mom & Pop" store. We don't believe that a company will do well without the owner there to run it day in and day out.

I still cook, clean, and even repair our equipment like the dishwasher if something goes wrong. Answering my calls is one of the most important things to me. If I don't get an answer when I call the bank, then it's hard for them to get a hold of me once I'm in the kitchen. We always want an answer right away so we can prepare to take the next steps.

While other banks may take more risks, Bank of Hawaii is very conservative. This is good though because they will prevent you from making a mistake. If you don't make a mistake, you cannot fail even in a bad economy.

Siri Ky: Bank of Hawaii is very helpful to us. We are a small, family business and Diane Murakami and Ed Kobayashi are very nice and they have helped us for a long time. With Bank of Hawaii we feel like family, especially with Diane and her staff, who are always there to help.

We use what we've learned through our past experiences to operate our business. We work very hard to grow our business not only for our own success, but also to help our partners and employees succeed. We manage to deal with many things to make it all work.

We feel very fortunate to work with Bank of Hawaii. Whenever we need help, they jump in.

Thomas: If you want to grow with Bank of Hawaii, it has to be for the long term. You need to work closely with them and take their recommendations because they are careful and they look out for your best interests. It may take longer to succeed, but you will probably get there safely.

Norman and Cheri Gentry

Commercial and Private Client Services Clients

Norman Gentry: Our family's relationship with Bank of Hawaii started in the 1960s with my father and current Board Director Alton Kuioka, who at the time was a branch officer in Kailua. I remember going to the Downtown Branch many times as a kid and opened my first bank account at the Waialae-Kahala Branch in the 1970s. Bank of Hawaii helped me purchase my first home, a small condominium in Waipio in the early 1970s, which was a big deal for a small guy just starting out. The family tradition started with my father and continues to this day with our children, Tommy and Nicole, who both have small personal bank accounts at the bank.

Private Client Services Officer Clyde Furushima is always very responsive and creative in crafting solutions. He and Leonie Woodard have been very helpful over the years. Clyde introduced me to Jan Lai in the trust area and Scott Kuioka on the investment side. Together, as a team, their ability as problemsolvers is most valuable. They are honest, dependable, caring, and loyal individuals who are always there when we need their help.

There are many different facets to our relationship with Bank of Hawaii in addition to private banking. With a family of companies, we do a lot of commercial lending with the bank as well. Bank of Hawaii has been with us through thick and thin, supporting us through the ups and downs of many real estate cycles over the decades.

It is important to have a relationship with a solid, trusted bank in the community, especially one of this stature with a reputation as the safest bank in the nation.

Bank of Hawaii has been providing solutions and protecting our future generations for nearly fifty years, and we are proud to be customers!

Ben Yacapin and Joy Molina-Yacapin

Retail Banking Clients

Joy Molina-Yacapin: We've gotten many, many services from Bank of Hawaii over the years, especially at our in-store branch in Mililani. We've met so many nice people. There are actually three people who really started our journey with Bank of Hawaii.

When my parents (who were in their 80s) came over from Maui in 1995, they were really hesitant about having their funds transferred. I didn't know what to do because I couldn't be flying back and forth to Maui to take care of their finances. I went to visit Karen Shibuya at the in-store branch in Mililani. Karen's daughter and my son were classmates together, so I thought I would go to her for advice and she was so gracious. We made an appointment and brought Mom and Dad in their wheelchairs and Karen talked to them. They decided, "Okay, this is where we'll move our money." They had previously had accounts on Maui, but transitioning to Oahu was really hard for them.

Karen was just great. After Karen moved on, and later retired, Rene Tam Ho has been a big part of our lives. When Mom and Dad were having a hard time getting to the bank, she would make time to meet us whenever it was convenient for me to bring them. My parents loved both of them.

Rowena Olinger also was very kind to them. Mom and Dad would always say, "Let's go and see the bank people," although they didn't have any banking to do. They became like an extended family and we will never forget that.

We are still with the bank because of the relationship that was built. They are a wonderful group of people. They're our bankers, but they've become friends.

They are so genuine. I've noticed at the in-store branch, even newcomers will address you by name. To me that says a lot. They really make it a point to remember you. Although we are just common, everyday people, it tells us that they value us and we are important to them. That has really impressed me about the bank. Bank of Hawaii has really, really good people.

Ben Yacapin: What I like about Bank of Hawaii is that they have a lot of branches, especially in the supermarkets. It is very convenient when you can do your banking and shop in the market.

Joy: The hours at the in-store branch have really helped because I get home very late. The branch is about five minutes away from home so it's convenient.

Bank of Hawaii also has a lot of ATMs. Everywhere we go, there's an ATM. And when we use our ATM card, there is no fee; it's great.

I also want to say something about the VISA card. The miles are a nice reward and a nice incentive too. We just treasure miles so we can travel. So, whenever I make a purchase I look forward to a reward.

Ben: Every time we see a Bank of Hawaii ATM or branch, we say, "That's our bank."

Joy: I'd say you definitely should bank there. I can truly say they have the personal touch.

Ben: Since we are from Hawaii, it's important that we can do business directly with them; we are not dealing with a bank from out of state. I've had experiences with different banks and I find that Bank of Hawaii is the most helpful. They are willing to do anything for you.

Joy: It is an institution of excellence; that's how I see it. I would recommend this bank to all of our local people.

We are so thankful that they're here and they meet our needs. It's just easy to deal with Bank of Hawaii. They really have the aloha spirit.

KTA Super Stores

Puna Plantation Hawaii Ltd.

Banking Partner

Toby Taniguchi: Our supermarket business was started in 1916 by my great grandparents and, as far as I know, Bank of Hawaii has always been our lead bank.

What we appreciate about our relationship with Bank of Hawaii is its responsiveness and flexibility in working with our organization's ever-changing financial needs.

We appreciate knowing our banker, Roberta Chu, genuinely cares about our business and financial needs. Roberta is certainly knowledgeable in her field, and is extremely well respected throughout the business and greater community.

Of course, the relationship didn't all begin with Roberta, so we believe it is also fitting to acknowledge several of Roberta's predecessors who have helped us along the way. We owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to individuals such as Larry Johnson, Shigeto Setoda and Jim Evans.

Andrew Chun: They always offer good, sound advice. They are always looking out for our best interest and we really appreciate that.

Toby: Automatic Teller Machines (ATMs) were the first "bank service" we offered in our stores. As we were planning the rollout of this added service, we worked closely with Bob Makahilahila (now retired), another great ambassador of Bankoh. Mr. Makahilahila guided us as we collaborated to set up the ATM network.

Andrew: The ATMs were the perfect segue to bring in the additional services of in-store branches. In addition to Bank of Hawaii ATMs in all of our stores, we also have a Bank of Hawaii in-store branch at our KTA Puainako and Keauhou locations.

Toby: Partnering with Bank of Hawaii in these ways has certainly helped us provide better services and convenience for our customers. These services are also enjoyed by our associates (including myself), who appreciate the convenience of having a full slate of financial services readily available.

Andrew: Bank of Hawaii is an integral part of the community. I think it's a perfect scenario where you can go and do your banking and shopping in one location. It saves time, and this makes it more convenient.

Toby: Bank of Hawaii is an integral part of the societal fabric here, and contributes much, not only to the business community at large, but also to the various community groups and health and human service organizations islandwide.

To be perfectly honest, my cousin, Art Taniguchi, works for Bank of Hawaii. But even if he didn't work there, I would still want to say Bankoh continues to be a great partner not only for us, but for the community as a whole. Both Art and Roberta, along with team members from all of the Bankoh branches, are extremely visible in the community, contributing much of their own time, treasure and talents towards making our island a better place to live.

It certainly makes me feel good to be affiliated with an organization that works hard in making meaningful contributions not only to the success of local businesses, but also to the greater community we all live in.

Andrew: The bank is really solid, steady as a rock and a local company. Its principles, mission, vision and core values are also in line with what we are as a company. I really like that.

Bank of Hawaii is my bank, and your employees at the in-store branch call KTA "their store." They are genuinely interested in how well we do; they know that when we do well, they are going to do well, too.

Toby: At the end of the day, we have always believed it to be about "people working with people." Roberta, Art and the rest of the team at Bankoh have been tremendous partners to us over the years. We are extremely grateful for the bank's ongoing support of our business.

Hawaijan Airlines

Commercial Client

Mark Dunkerley: Hawaiian Airlines has been with Bank of Hawaii for 70 years. Our relationship with Bankoh has evolved to include almost every banking product and service and has spread to almost every corner of our operations. Our business with Bankoh includes a credit facility, foreign exchange services, debit/credit cards, pension administration, investment management and employee accounts, as well.

Peter Ingram: I think the value of having a long-term relationship is that we understand the bank where we bank. And, importantly for us, the bank understands our needs and how the needs of our business have evolved over time. That's a tremendous value to us.

Mark: Bank of Hawaii personifies all of the important business values that make Hawaii a very special place. The fact that Bank of Hawaii was named the best bank in America comes as no surprise to us, having received such great service over the years in our relationship with the bank.

Peter: I think of Bank of Hawaii as a community bank with old-fashioned values. Marc Adelberger, our banking officer, is someone we can count on any time we have a question. Whether it's something big or small, he gets right on it, and gives it the attention it needs to make sure we have the answers we need.

Over the last few years, automated and Web banking products have become available and made it much more easy and convenient for us to get things done. It is also nice to know that there is always someone who is just down the street and just a phone call away, if we have any questions and we're not able to get exactly what we need online.

In the past year, we have expanded our relationship with Bank of Hawaii to include their participation in the refinancing of a major credit facility. Obviously, this is something of tremendous importance to our business, and we were gratified to see our relationship expand into a lending relationship with Bank of Hawaii.

Mark: Hawaiian Airlines is a long-term institution here in the state of Hawaii. We have built a franchise based on long-term relationships and a sense of responsibility to the community. We like to do business with companies such as Bankoh that have the same core, community values that make Hawaii such a special place.

Peter: Our business has enjoyed a measure of success in the past few years, but we've had challenges in the past. One of the important things about Bank of Hawaii is that it has not only been with us through the good times, but has been here when things were more challenging.

Mark: Throughout the length of Bank of Hawaii—from the executive suite to the people whom we work with every day and whom our employees work with every day—it is a relationship that is based on customer service and understanding of one another's business. That is something we value a great deal.

Employee Giving: 'Now that's bankohana'

Bank of Hawaii employees are the heart and soul of our enduring commitment to our island communities. And it is their commitment that earned Bank of Hawaii the "2010 Business Leadership Hawaii Community Spirit Award" from Pacific Business News.

Our employees give generously of their time, expertise and financial resources to invest in our nonprofit partners and the community. In 2010, BOH employees significantly increased their volunteer efforts, both in terms of the number of community projects and volunteer hours.

Many of our employees participate in the bank's financial education efforts. More than 175 employees are trained to lead the Bank of Hawaii Smart Money Seminars on topics that range from the importance of savings to buying a first home and how to establish good credit. To date, more than 4,000 people in Hawaii, Guam, Palau, Saipan and American Samoa have attended our Smart Money Seminars.

Bank employees also volunteer with Junior Achievement (JA) in Hawaii and Guam, teaching financial classes to students from kindergarten through high school. The bank leads all other local companies in the number of volunteers with JA.

Bank of Hawaii employees are key participants in "Teach Children to Save Day," which teaches lifelong savings habits to elementary students, and "Get Smart About Credit Day," which gives older students a stronger understanding of credit and how to use it responsibly. In 2010, our employees focused on students from low- to middle-income families. Employees have participated in these programs for more than 10 years on Guam, and 2010 became the first year that employees taught these programs in American Samoa.

4th Annual Bank of Hawaii Charity Walk
More than 1,000 bank employees and their family members participated in our Charity Walk, raising $111,000 for Boys & Girls Club of Hawaii, Parents And Children Together
(PACT), and Special Olympics Hawaii. Our neighbor island and Pacific Island employees participated in additional community fundraisers.

Financial education and volunteerism are just two aspects of employee giving. In 2010, we launched our Employee Giving Campaign. Employees reached deeply into their hearts and pockets to raise $470,000. To commemorate the first year of the campaign, the bank matched the funds raised by employees to donate a total of $1 million to 20 nonprofits chosen by employees. Perhaps the Honolulu Star-Advertiser put it best:

Bank of Hawaii's granting of $1 million total to 20 local nonprofits merits a big shout-out to the company that's earned Forbes magazine's 'America's Best Bank' title two years in a row. Nearly half of the cool mil was raised by Bankoh employees and retirees; the remainder was donated by the bank. Now that's bankohana.

Hawaii to Take Global Stage at APEC 2011

In November 2011, Hawaii will host 21 participating world leaders, including President Barack Obama, at the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) in Honolulu.

Hosting a meeting of this caliber is an opportunity to elevate Hawaii as a destination, and to position us globally for future economic development.

Bank of Hawaii Chairman and CEO Peter Ho serves as chairman of the APEC 2011 Hawaii Host Committee. The bank is honored to be involved in preparations for this significant opportunity for Hawaii.

As U.S. Senator Daniel Inouye said, "Hawaii's people are the faces of APEC." We look forward to this opportunity as America's host city to captivate and invigorate its distinguished guests with distinction, and with the spirit of aloha we are known for worldwide.
